DAILY MATHS ACTIVITIES

LO: To recognise equivalent fractions.

This week we are continuing to learn all about fractions. Remember a fraction is part of a whole and sits between zero and 1 on the number line. We have learnt how to recognise and compare different fractions. We have also learnt the key vocab, numerator and denominator, how the denominator tells us how many equal parts the whole has been split into and the numerator tells us how many parts there are. Today we are going to find equivalent fractions.

THE WIDER CURRICULUM

With many of you now having smart devices such as tablets, phones and laptops, it's very important you use them safely and remain safe online. It is important that you know how to be smart with the equipment you use to go online and don't incur any charges or sign up for something by mistake.

Here is the PowerPoint lesson:

Can you write a silly story using prefixes?

UP FOR THE CHALLENGE?

During lockdown or isolation, more of you are taking on more responsibility and becoming more independent. A vital skill you must master is typing. The faster you can type the less time it will take you to complete homework in secondary school!
